

Special Issue of Atmospheric Research for ECSS 2002

In addition to publishing an abstract volume, we plan to publish a special issue of the journal Atmospheric Research to document in the open literature key presentations made at this conference. All presenters are encouraged to submit a manuscript on the topic of their presentation for consideration for publication.

Information about the scope, audience and current tables of contents for recent issues of Atmospheric Research can be found at URL:

<http://www.elsevier.nl/locate/atmosres>

Instructions for preparing manuscripts can be found on this Elsevier web site; click on "Note to Contributors". Note that there are no page charges for articles accepted for publication. (Special charges may be assessed where there are special requirements such as the reproduction of color imagery.)

Deadline for submission of manuscripts: 11 OCTOBER 2002

Submit all manuscripts to:
