Good to know:

About 5 % (and up to 10 %) tip is typical, if the service was ok. Usually the tip is directly given to the waitress or waiter in cash, when you pay your meal. Austrians most often round the invoice amount up to an appropriate sum in order to include a small tip (for example: if the invoice amounts to EUR 18.50 you can round up to EUR 20.00 if the service was good).

Especially the traditional small restaurants often close their kitchen quite early in the evening, which might be surprising especially for people from southern Europe. It is wise to be at the restaurant the latest at 20:00. Later your choice could be limited to small dishes.
